Reds Break Silence

Two Attacks Cut Strange Quiet

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 29 (Thursday) (AP). — Two Communist attacks on the eastern front last night broke the strange quiet that had settled across the 145 miles of frozen Korean battle front. The Eighth Army said Allied troops hurled back the assaults by midnight.

Field dispatches said Allied troops had received orders to fire only if attacked.

However, an Allied headquarters spokesman in Tokyo said no cease-fire order "has been given by the Eighth Army or anybody else."

In Key West, Fla., President Truman's spokesman denied Korea reports that the order had come from the highest source, possibly the White House.

The Reds attacked in the high mountains northwest of Yanggu. They hit first in battalion strength and then attacked with a regiment. The battle lasted eight hours.

Elsewhere, from coast to coast, hardly a shot was fired, save for occasional artillery rounds.

A 3rd Division officer said "We didn't fire a round of artillery last night for the first time since I can remember, and I came here last November.

"We don't plan to do any offensive firing now," he said, "but our men have been told that for each shell the enemy fires at us, we will fire five back at him."

Allied headquarters said no order to stop fighting had been issued.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's public information officer in Tokyo said:

"I can say that no such order has been given by the Eighth Army or anybody else. The report of a directive to stop the fighting is false."

AP correspondent Milo Farneti, in a dispatch from the front passed by censors, quoted a 3rd Division officer as saying an Eighth Army directive ordered front line units not to fire on the Reds unless necessary.

Communist troops played volley ball in full sight of Allied troops last night without being fired upon. Camp fires glowed across the battle line but there was no shooting.

Beach No Joy to Foul Bay Residents

A beachcomber's paradise, but an ominous sight to Foul Bay residents, is this stretch of beach. They fear that a combination of high tides and wind will send huge logs among the debris crashing against foundations of their homes, already threatened by weakened seawall.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Chinese Blackmail Estimated $16,000

By FRANK MEADE

Chinese Communists in Victoria already have betrayed their countrymen to the tune of more than $16,000, and are supplying their superiors in China with information making possible a continuing supply of extortion money a prominent Chinese said yesterday.

Such Red cells operate in every Chinese community in Canada, and are responsible for the lists of people here who can afford to pay for the safety of their families and relatives in their homeland, he said.

The R.C.M.P., who maintain close surveillance over the activities of other Communists in B.C., and possess extensive files about them, say they know little or nothing about the Chinese Reds active in the province.

AFRAID OF REDS

"The other Chinese are justly deathly afraid to come to us," said a high R.C.M.P. official in Victoria.

He said this fear is being further intensified by young Chinese coming here directly from China, and telling of the contempt with which human life is treated by the Communists.

The estimate of 16,000 Canadian dollars in extortion money so far sent to China from Victoria was made by a man who expects, any day, a request for funds to ensure the safety of a member of his family.

He said that when bank accounts of Chinese here have been drained, as had happened in many cases, and they no longer are good prospects for more money, the Communist "finger men" in the community signs the death warrants of the extortion victim's relatives or family by reporting the fact.

TO SEEK U.N. AID

Realizing the futility of any appeal to Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung to halt the flood of extortion demands, Victoria Chinese have decided to take their case to the United Nations.

A special committee of the Chinese Benevolent Society yesterday voted to write to their embassy in Ottawa, asking it to urge consideration of the matter by the U.N. General Assembly now meeting in Paris.

Liberal Lead Still Growing

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 28 (CP).—The Liberal party of Premier Joseph Smallwood already assured of victory—continued to pick up strength tonight as counting of Newfoundland's Nov. 26 provincial election ballots continued.

C.C.L. Joins T.L.C. On Racial Committee

A joint committee of Trades and Labor Congress and Canadian Congress of Labor trade councils will be formed in Victoria to prepare action against racial discrimination.

The C.C.L. council has agreed to nominate members to the committee, said Percy Rayment, T.L.C. council spokesman.

Suggestion of such a committee came from last week's T.L.C. council meeting.

Canada's Seaway Plans No Bluff, Howe Contends

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (CP).—Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Canada's trade minister, said tonight that Canada is not bluffing in her proposal to undertake construction of the St. Lawrence seaway project alone.

"It has been suggested in some irresponsible quarters that the Canadian proposal was a bluff, that Canada could not and would not undertake such a large project alone," the minister said, in a speech prepared for delivery before the Washington Society of Engineers.

"I trust that the official announcement will put an end of that kind of talk. There is no bluff about Canada's attitude. We would need and would seek the co-operation of a designated agency in the United States to develop the international power.

"With that, we can and will complete the other essential works in the St. Lawrence River."

Nevertheless, Canada still preferred to get U.S. participation through early ratification of the 1941 Canada-U.S. agreement to deepen the river for ocean-going traffic, he said.

This preference, said Mr. Howe, had little to do with the sharing of the cost, which Canada is "quite capable" of financing, but because it would cut legal difficulties and help speed actual construction.

Victoria Trio On Troopship

Three Vancouver Island men are aboard the second troopship from Korea which is slated to arrive in Seattle on Saturday at 2 p.m., army officials in Vancouver announced yesterday.

On the passenger list are Cpl. F. C. Boe, Wellington, Pte. K. Dobbs, Duncan and Cpl. R. R. P. Price, Brentwood.

The Korean veterans will travel by rail to Mission where they will embus for Vancouver army headquarters for documentation.

It is expected 30 days leave will start Saturday night.

Hurricane Winds Rip Trees, Wires

Gusts Pass 90 Miles an Hour, Several Small Fires Start

A full gale with gusts of hurricane force ripped through Victoria last night leaving a tangle of downed wires and felled trees.

B.C. Electric officials kept their fingers crossed. Although damage to smaller wires was heavy, no transmission lines blew down to black out whole areas.

The Dominion Meteorological station at Gonzales Hill reported steady winds up to 70 miles an hour with gusts up to 92 miles an hour.

The first reports of trouble in the storm were two chimney fires in Saanich shortly after 4 p.m., within two minutes of each other.

Several small fires occupied firemen in various parts of the city and out as far as Florence Lake Road in Langford.

At 10.30 p.m. the wind suddenly increased and police and fire departments were kept busy constantly by falling wires, trees and poles. A large tree at Cook and McNair fell across wires, but was held by them. A house was threatened if the tree continued its fall.

TRANSFORMER FIRE

On Blenkinsop Road a transformer caught fire, and a live wire fell at the corner of Pine and Craigflower, and another at Catherine and Langford.

A tree crashed on a parked car on Lovat Street and on the same street a pole leaned against a house, dangling live, blue-flashing wires over the roof.

Several trees were reported blown over roads out of town, one on Thetis Lake Road blocking it completely. R.C.M.P. reported many tree limbs blown down in the Goldstream area.

Phone service to up-Island points was suspended when wires went down. The only means of communicating by phone from Victoria to Nanaimo was by way of Vancouver.

Heavy rains in Nanaimo gave way to strong winds shortly before midnight, R.C.M.P. said, but no damage was reported.

C.P.R. steamships, leaving for Vancouver at midnight, were on time and other coastal vessels were reported on schedule. Both the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and the Oak Bay Boat House reported all craft tied down. A low tide prevented wave damage.

Victoria did not suffer the storm alone. In Seattle, winds with gusts up to 50 miles an hour tore a ship from her moorings and brought lines down in 11 places.

Portland, Oregon, reported a lightning storm, bringing gusts up to 50 miles an hour. Power service was disrupted in the Astoria area for 20 minutes. Lightning bolts struck poles and knocked out transformers.

Salvage Pressed After Gale

HALIFAX, Nov. 28 (CP). — Salvage and rescue operations were stepped up today as the sea calmed in the wake of a roaring storm which plundered the North Atlantic seaboard during the last 36 hours, leaving a trail of death and broken ships.

Reports reaching here from craft which sailed into the teeth of a 65-mile-an-hour gale to bring aid to distressed vessels said the winds had subsided and conditions "are improving."

Ten rescued Gloucester, Mass., fishermen, who braved the merciless gale to save their foundering ship, stepped ashore at Lunenburg, N.S., tonight with shouts of glee.

Not all the victims of the storm fared so well.

The 390-ton coaster Vagabond Prince, out of Yarmouth, N.S., was swept aground at Codroy on the southwest tip of Newfoundland. Her crew is safe.

A rescue tug was reported en route to the side of an Italian ship, believed to be the 2,000-ton Carla Maria G., grounded at Mont Louis on the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

At Cuttyhunk, Mass., only one man of a crew of six escaped when the dragger Mary M., also of Gloucester, crashed ashore.

A Newfoundland coaster, Ice Hunter, went aground on Madame Island at the Atlantic mouth of the Strait of Canso.

Fight Breaks After Deal

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Nov. 28 (AP).—Violence broke out again in Ismailia tonight less than six hours after the British commander had announced agreement that Egyptian police would resume responsibility for maintaining order there.

A shooting affray between Egyptian civilians and British military personnel occurred near a British camp.

Egyptian police capt. Abdel Aziz Hamdi, chief of Ismailia's special branch of police, said four Egyptian civilians "on their way home and behaving normally" were wounded by a British patrol.

A British army spokesman gave this version:

"Seven or eight" Egyptians attempting to steal steel plates from a storage building near the camp were surprised by a military patrol.

They fired on the patrol. The patrolmen stormed the building, wounding one man, who was left behind when the others fled.

Social Credit Motion Vetoed

OTTAWA, Nov. 28 (CP).—The lingering Throne Speech debate inched towards a finale today as the Commons voted 145 to 55 against a Social Credit motion criticizing the government on the issue of war veterans' allowances.

Tanker, Trawler Collide, Killing 15 Fishermen

BOSTON, Nov. 28 (AP).—Fifteen fishermen perished tonight when a big Texas Oil Co. tanker rammed and sank a light Boston fishing trawler in the outer harbor.

The Coast Guard said that 13 of the 17-man crew evidently were trapped in the ship. Two others died after they were rescued. Two other survivors were taken to hospitals.

There were brief, sharp outcries from the stunned gathering of relatives on the pier as the yellow Coast Guard flares dropped over the scene of the crash. They could see the outline of rescue ships silhouetted against the sky as the flares brightened the area.

The trawler sank immediately after she was hit about 2½ miles west of Graves Light near the entrance to the harbor's north channel.

The scene of the sinking was soon illuminated as Coast Guard planes dropped flares and dozens of Coast Guard and other vessels swept in for the rescue.

The Coast Guard reported the water was strewn with wreckage. One lifejacket was found empty. There was no sign of life on the water after the four crew members were picked up.

The crash occurred just an hour after the 10,000-ton tanker Ventura and the trawler left their berths, outbound.

British Accept Eastern Plan

PARIS, Nov. 28 (CP).—Britain today retained her conciliatory tone, despite initial Russian rebuffs, in accepting on behalf of the western nations the Asian-Arab plan for private four-power disarmament talks.

Selwyn Lloyd, Britain's Minister of State, in the United Nations political committee urged Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky not to "close the door."

Some smaller powers urged the Russians to speak up on the new proposal.

"We came here with great hopes and we have not abandoned those hopes," said Lloyd. "Therefore I appeal once again to the Soviet delegation to give our proposals the full and detailed examination which they deserve.

"I . . . hope that the Soviet delegate has not said his last word and that he will not finally close the door."

B.C. Government Backs Trans-Mountain Oil Line

By T. A. MYERS

The provincial government yesterday gave its support to one of the principal contenders in a five-cornered fight for federal permission to pipe Alberta oil to the Pacific coast.

Premier Byron Johnson announced a proposal by the Trans-Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company to build an $82,000,000 oil line 700 miles from Alberta across B.C. to Burnaby. The company has announced no plans for a gas line.

He said B.C. will support Trans-Mountain when its application for permission to build the line comes up before the Board of Transport Commissioners in Ottawa December 10.

The premier hailed the proposal as "one of the biggest things that ever happened to B.C."

Consent of the transport commissioners would be an answer to the government's prayers. The legislature two years ago urged by resolution that just such a line be built.

START NEXT YEAR

Stressing that the whole plan hinges on the transport commission's approval, Premier Johnson said Trans-Mountain is ready to start work early in the new year and would be able to over-supply the B.C. oil market by the end of 1953.

The line would run due west from Edmonton, over the Rockies by Yellowhead Pass, down the North Thompson River to Kamloops, southwest to Merritt, then along the C.P.R.'s Kettle Valley line up the Coldwater River and through the Coquihalla Canyon to Hope.

Three Killed In Ship Fire

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Nov. 28 (INS). — The master and two passengers died in a blaze aboard the Norwegian ship Bataan, which limped into port at San Pedro today on auxiliary power.

Ship's officers said the fire broke out Tuesday in the steward's quarter and raced through passenger quarters. It swept five decks of the superstructure.

Colonist Forced by Costs To Raise Paper's Price

Effective Saturday, December 1, the price of The Daily Colonist will be increased 25 cents per month.

The decision to increase the price, taken reluctantly by the management of The Colonist, is the direct result of continually rising production costs.

Although wages, newsprint prices and other operating expenses have gone up tremendously in recent years, it will be only the second time since 1920 that The Colonist has increased its own price.

The need for higher subscription rates is being felt all across the continent. Both Spokane papers have moved their daily price from five to seven cents, and Los Angeles from seven to 10. Numerous other Canadian and United States papers have done the same.

The scheduled increase applies to all carrier delivery prices. The carrier boys themselves, who also face the problems of inflation, will get increased remuneration for their work.

Street sale and store sale price of The Colonist will move from five to seven cents, but the Sunday edition will remain at its present 10 cents.

A list of new mail subscription rates will be found on page 18 of today's issue.

In making this announcement The Colonist wishes to thank its readers for their understanding and support, and to assure them this newspaper will maintain the standard of news, picture and feature coverage it has achieved in the past.

Five Rescued From Tunnel

VANCOUVER, Nov. 28 (CP).—Five construction workers were rescued tonight after being imprisoned in a tunnel for six hours at the Jones Lake Power Development project east of Chilliwack, B.C.

The construction company which employs the men said none was injured when they became trapped in a tunnel drilled last summer.

The Northern Construction Company and J. W. Stewart, Ltd., is drilling a tunnel through Four Brothers mountain as part of the $10,000,000 British Columbia Electric Railway Co., Ltd. development.

Reports said the men were driving old timber from the tunnel, which was drilled at a 48-degree slant. The timber, sliding down the shaft, jammed the entrance.

$40 in First Day

Immediate Response Greets Appeal To Give Cigarettes to Korea Troops

Busy Colonist offices became even busier yesterday as Victorians responded in person and by telephone to The Colonists' fund to supply Canadian cigarettes to the Canadian Korea Brigade.

Approximately $40 in cash and pledges for various sums were received by late yesterday afternoon as the first day of the campaign drew to a close.

Decision to establish the fund followed disclosures in Tom Taylor's editorial page column which made it evident that brigade members are desperately in need of a regular supply of familiar cigarettes.

Those who have returned from Korea say that our soldiers do not receive an issue of Canadian cigarettes and must therefore smoke American and British brands.

RESPONSE GOOD

Expressing satisfaction with the first day's response, a fund official said that he was sure that donations would mount steadily as generous Victoria citizens dipped into their purses as they always do for worthy causes.

He added that although it takes $2 to send 400 cigarettes to the Korean theatre of war, donations of any amount, no matter how small, will be accepted at either the new Colonist office at 2631 Douglas Street or the downtown office in the old Colonist building on Broad Street.

Receipts will be issued for all contributions and periodic statements will be published on collections and the dispatch of cigarettes and tobacco.

Many of the calls received at the two offices yesterday were from people offering to set up the fund themselves.

The Colonist asks these citizens to help keep the plan on an efficient basis by getting behind The Colonist fund to spread a little cheer among our fighting sons.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

President Truman will have to eat humble pie instead of cherry pie if he can't fling a dime across the river.

The President said any 10-year-old child could flip a dime across the Rappahannock at the place where Washington threw over a silver dollar 200 years ago.

Fredericksburg, Virginia, challenged Mr. Truman to prove it. The city invited him to a banquet on Washington's birthday, but specified that he will have to earn his dessert by making good the coin-tossing boast.

He can choose his coin, but unless it clears the far shore, he'll get no cherry pie.

* * *

This is just the place for some crass remark about money not going as far as it used to go, but if you wait for me to make it, you'll wait a long time.

George Washington, planter, soldier and chopper-down of cherry trees, probably had a better chance to develop his arm than ex-haberdasher Truman.

Yet some critics might say that Mr. Truman has the drop on the father of his country all the same, because the whole Truman team has had so much more practice flinging money too far and too fast.

All Washington had to do was fling a silver dollar across a river. I don't even know whether anyone found it. The Truman boys, on the other hand, are expected to hurl paper dollars in all directions, and there are eager mitts everywhere waiting to field them.

Anyway, Mr. Truman now has a chance to prove whether his biceps are as strong as his mouth muscles—a chance which comes seldom to the leaders of nations. If his biceps loses the contest, the presidential palate will have to be satisfied with rice pudding, or something of the kind.

* * *

In this day of specialization, leaders of nations are no longer expected to be warriors. No one asks them to canter down the field of honor at the head of their knights, whacking off enemy heads with a broadsword. Neither are they called upon to be heroes of sport. But the President of the United States is expected to make a brief appearance on the baseball diamond and look like a pitcher.

When it comes to pitching a baseball, Mr. Truman is a southpaw. That may be one reason why his political opponents claim he is a little too strong in the left wing.

They say he has quite a fancy windup when he hurls the President's traditional first pitch to open the season for Washington Senators. Whether he whistles them waist-high over the plate or knocks off the catcher's toupee, I couldn't tell you.

Washington's birthday is celebrated Feb. 22, so Mr. Truman has nearly three months to limber up the arm in the presidential bull-pen. Or perhaps he could go through the motions of flinging silver dollars across the Atlantic towards the sterling bloc.

Two New Agricultural Stations Set Up on Island

Two new agricultural illustration stations have been established on Vancouver Island, one near Nanaimo for study of irrigation problems and another south of Cowichan Bay for farming studies in clay loam soil.

The stations are organized so that agricultural problems common to the area in which the station is located are studied under actual soil, climatic and market conditions of the area.

Experimental work on the stations will also include studies with grasses, legumes and cereals, farm rotation, fertilizer and milk production.

The stations are on the farms of A. C. Galloway in the Cedar area south of Nanaimo and on F. R. Parr's property south of Cowichan Bay.

The addition of the two new stations increases the number on Vancouver Island to five. Other stations are located at Alberni, Courtenay and Duncan on the farms of C. Chase, J. Casanave and R. Young.

Results of the work on the stations are given to farmers during annual field days which are held on each station, and through publications, district agriculturists, farmers meeting and the press.

U.K. Europe Army Stand Throws Shadow on Plan

ROME, Nov. 28 (AP)—The 12 Atlantic allies wound up their eighth council today by calling for a quick final report on the possibility of creating an international European army, including Germany.

But Britain's foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, indicated Prime Minister Winston Churchill's Conservative government has no idea of reversing the Labor government's decision to hold aloof from such an army.

Eden told a press conference "British formations will not join the European army. But there might be some form of association."

Officials in London explained that this association would consist of "working with S.H.A.P.E." Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters.

Although Britain's stand is not new, it produced a fresh reaction in the European consultative assembly at Strasbourg. A long shadow fell over the possibility that the European army plan ever would be realized.

There Paul Reynaud, French Rightist, predicted to the representatives from 15 European parliaments that Britain's rejection would result in overthrow of the plan in the French Parliament.

"Our opponents will be able to say the United Kingdom invites you to drown your own armies in a European army, but she keeps her own," Reynaud said.

Toy Six-Shooters Rout Car Prowlers

VANCOUVER, Nov. 28. (CP).—Bruce Howard of Vancouver dressed up as a cowboy for a fancy dress gathering at his club, complete with toy six-shooters.

On the way to the gathering he stopped at another address to deliver a parcel. He left the motor of his car running.

Coming out of the club [illegible] wheel of his car and another climbing in the far door.

Drawing his six-shooter he walked to the driver's door of the car and drawled "going anywhere in particular?"

The driver turned, looked into the barrel of the gun, let out a shriek and dived out the far door of the car, brushing his companion into the gutter.

Both hightailed it up the street, and Bruce went to the party.

Lawyer, Economist Clash On Freight-Rate Effect

OTTAWA, Nov. 28 (CP).—An economist and a provincial government lawyer today disagreed over the possible inflationary effects of freight-rate increases.

The conflict developed between M. A. MacPherson, Saskatchewan counsel, and Professor Gilbert Jackson, Toronto economist, in the Board of Transport Commissioners' hearings on the railways' request for a further 10 per cent rate hoist.

MacPherson contended a strong inflationary pressure would result from an increase of the size suggested as proper by Prof. Jackson, a railway witness. The witness denied this.

Prof. Jackson proposed to the board that the C.P.R.—the "yardstick" line for the setting of rates in Canada—is entitled to an annual surplus of between $27,000,000 and $29,000,000 on its rail operations. The board now allows the C.P.R. a surplus of $15,235,000.

The economist worked out his figure largely on the expansion of the economy and the changed value of the dollar since 1947, the year on whose operations the current C.P.R. figure is based.

The Saskatchewan counsel estimated that the surplus increase proposed by Prof. Jackson eventually would be transformed into an increase of about $52,000,000 in the national freight bill.

Cost of Unit For University Set $1,000,000

VANCOUVER, Nov. 28 (CP).—Estimates for the third and final unit of the University of British Columbia medical school—a $1,000,000 pathology unit—will be presented to the next session of the legislature.

Education Minister W. T. Straith said here Monday the final cost of the unit may run well in excess of $1,000,000.

Two units of the school have already been built on the U.B.C. campus and are in operation.

The third unit will be built on the grounds of the Vancouver General Hospital because third-year students using the building will be taking most of the training at the hospital rather than at U.B.C.

King Planning Ocean Cruise

LONDON, Nov. 28 (Reuters)—The King, who is recovering from a lung operation, hopes to make a cruise of some weeks in the battleship Vanguard early next spring. He will be accompanied by the Queen.

A statement issued from Buckingham Palace tonight said:

"It is hoped that the King will be able to take a sea voyage lasting some weeks in the early spring.

"The King and Queen will make this cruise in H.M.S. Vanguard.

No information was available as to where the King will be cruising in the 42,500-ton Vanguard, Britain's biggest battleship.

The King underwent an operation for lung resection on Sept. 23. He has made an excellent recovery, but so far has not left the Palace since the operation.

It is thought that his health will benefit considerably from a sea cruise in a warm climate.

New York Like Tomb In Atomic Raid Test

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP).—For 10 minutes today, New York's 8,000,000 people cringed in grim, eerie silence beneath imaginary atom bombs.

It was the first all-out air-raid practice here since the Second World War.

And there won't be another practice alert. The next if it comes will be the real thing.

"A success," Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri labeled the test.

Said Civil Defense Director Arthur W. Wallander:

"I feel it would go just as well if an actual raid occurred."

The teeming city became a monument to fear within instants after the sirens wailed out their warning at 10.33 a.m., EST.

The pulsing roar of New York faded abruptly, then snapped off as though some giant switch had been pulled.

Pigeons wheeled nervously over deserted streets, the flap of their wings clearly audible in the silence.

English Speaking Countries Urged to Co-operate for Peace

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (CP).—Viscount Alexander, Canada's Governor-General, said tonight the English-speaking countries of the world must work together for world peace and understanding.

Viscount Alexander said he placed a broad interpretation on the meaning of "English speaking."

He outlined the framework of the Commonwealth and spoke of the Colombo Plan and the Marshall Plan as examples of what the "English-speaking" world could do. Turning to the Indian sub-continent, he said India, Pakistan and Ceylon had attained full independence, but this did not necessarily mean the solution of all problems.

"But the great forces of nationalism can be channeled towards peaceful aims.

"We are all aware of the powerful influence which forces of nationalism play; we are also aware that if they are not directed towards positive achievement, they can create ill will between nations and bread national disaster.

"But I feel confident that the leaders of those countries in the Indian sub-continent, who are men of great ability and vision, will find ways and means to solve their different problems as they arise."

Some May Not Answer 'Cause They Can't Write

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28 (INS)—Eleven thousand Los Angeles high school juniors with a normal I.Q. of 75 or better, were given a series of exams last spring to test their knowledge in the minimum essentials of arithmetic, English, history, civics and geography.

Results made public today showed that:

Three per cent, or 330 of them, were unable to tell time.

Sixteen per cent, or 1,750, knew nothing about the Fourth of July except that they do not have to go to school on that day.

Thirty-nine per cent were unable to answer this question: "The price of a class ring is $8. There is a 20 per cent tax on the ring. What is the total cost of the ring?"

Seventeen per cent did not know how many days there are in a year.

Five per cent could not answer correctly the question, "What is half of 70?"

Four per cent did not know the alphabet.

Sixty-two per cent were unable to say whether C.I.O. president Philip Murray was connected with a labor union or with Standard Oil.

Six per cent did not know whether to use a dictionary, a directory, an encyclopedia or a newspaper to find the correct spelling of a word.

Oddities

TORONTO, Nov. 28 (CP).—An Austrian nobleman-magician threw a switch and a pretty girl vanished.

Hans Eberhard Maria Nicholas Gabrial Edmund Benjamin Graf von Matuscha, Freihervon Toppolczan und Spaetgen put on a preview of what he can do with lights.

The blonde girl sitting on a chair gradually disappeared while the chair remained. Twisting a knob, the magician made a teddy bear appear on the chair. More knobs, and the young woman's head materialized.

Then a switch was pulled and the head vanished, leaving only the smile.

He hopes that his magic will some day produce his wife from the United States' zone of Germany, where he left her. Before coming to Canada five months ago, he was an electrical engineer and has designed several new types of electric lights.

He intends to take his apparatus on a Canadian tour and earn enough money to bring his family to Canada.

LITTLE HECK, Yorkshire, England, Nov. 28 (AP).—Officialdom has been raising heck hereabouts of late and Heck won't stand for it.

Two men with paint pots hit "Little Heck" last week and made its single "To Heck" signpost read "To Great Heck."

Heck is a mile from Little Heck and has 192 residents. They complained to their member of parliament about being raised to "Great Heck." Emissaries to post officials hecked: "Where the heck is Heck?"

The post officials just didn't know who sent the painters and why.

Little Heck doesn't much care either way — it has only five houses.

Informal Cease-Fire Spurs Hope

AN informal cease-fire in Korea, unbroken in its first 24 hours, gave hope yesterday that both sides are of a mind to get down to business in the long-continued truce negotiations. The fact that Red Chinese stood in their tracks all along the line shows that the cessation of battle order was an official ruling with them too. Since Tuesday, it is reported, United Nations troops had been warned of this development; told to keep watchful, but to refrain from any avoidable clash. There is little doubt that the cease-fire, informal as it seems, is in fact the precursor to a serious attempt at an arranged truce, which in turn could lead to a formal armistice with full political connotations.

In any shooting war it is always a gain if the firing is stopped, even momentarily. That allows time for clearer thought, a review of the whole picture, and perhaps a more determined approach to a possible settlement of differences. In this instance it will soon be apparent, if the Reds intend to negotiate or if this lull is a device to gain breathing time. What prevents hopes from becoming too sanguine is the fact that for 150 days previously just such a truce as this was being urged and rejected at the front. However, the proof of all intent is action and time will reveal what may be the real, underlying motives here. Certainly the United Nations has gone to every reasonable and possible length to let it be known that negotiations are possible, and could be productive of an armistice.

Since no war is of comfort to the human family, the fact that the guns have stopped in Korea even thus briefly is a welcome fact in itself. May good sense and plain dealing take charge now, and on both sides. Red China has nothing basically to gain from following the Kremlin line in the Far East, and very much to lose. On our side, the United Nations' desire from the first has been to stop outright aggression.

Coming Up for Air

VANCOUVER Island milk producer-vendors, according to their chief spokesman, are becoming disheartened by regimentation, fenced in by restrictions in every aspect of their business. Prices are set by the provincial milk board, butterfat content is prescribed, and in other ways they have to do the board's bidding or face the consequences in court.

This is a very sad story, but a familiar one. What else did the dairy farmers expect? Didn't they realize five years ago that when you beg a government for protection through controls you invite the very conditions about which the producers are now crying into their milk pails? Couldn't they see then that when you ask someone else to fix your prices, you surrender the management of your business besides?

We appreciate the farmers' current difficulties, and can well believe that they feel discouraged—as who wouldn't be when enmeshed in government restrictions. But we can't feel deeply moved by their protests against the very controls they asked the government to impose, in the innocent belief that controls would bring them prosperity. They can't eat their cake and have it.

The milk marketing regulations, the producers now tell us, are stifling competition. Well! Isn't that exactly what the producers wanted when they went to the government for protection in the first place? Didn't they campaign for the single-spout system of marketing to break the competition which they said was ruining them? Now they feel stifled, which is just too bad but unlikely to impress the customers, who haven't smelled the fresh air of competition since the milk board took over five years ago.

Perhaps the producers are coming out of their pipe dream at last, awakening to the realization that protection comes at a higher price than it is worth. Of course controls mean regimentation; of course they stifle competition. How else could they work? This disillusionment is a hopeful sign, however. If the producers now see the system as bad, then the last reason for retention of controls and the board administering them vanishes.

Mr. Claxton Again

MR. CLAXTON, who seldom graces what he touches, has got himself into hot water again. Cabinet ministers on foreign junkets often do. Strange environments seem to loosen not only their tongues but their sense of responsibility, with the result that sometimes they make statements that go beyond their right. The defense minister's overseas announcement of barracks and airfields to be built in Europe is a sharp case in point.

It matters not at all that the figure of $100,000,000 credited to him was not said in so many words. What he did say unmistakably was that Canada would build quarters for the Canadian brigade in Europe, and also that four or five new airdromes would be built to house Canadian jet plane squadrons. The development of European real estate on this scale, as those in authority know well, would cost this nation at least around that figure.

Prime Minister St. Laurent was naturally irked when news dispatches brought Mr. Claxton's statements to Canada, for the good reason the government had not announced any such policy nor had parliament approved it. It was not within Mr. Claxton's province to pledge these undertakings without such sanction, and it is not surprising the Opposition raised a howl about the defense minister's indiscretion.

The barracks and airfields in question undoubtedly will be constructed. Canadian troops abroad must be equipped, housed and serviced or there would be no use in sending them overseas, but—the cardinal point—not until parliament has so decided. Mr. Claxton's apparent indifference to this fundamental right of parliament is what is disturbing, coming as it does after so many indications that cabinets all across the country are only too prone to regard legislatures as doormats to be stamped into whatever shape the reigning political power desires.

A REJOINDER

Sir,—Your editorial "It's Nice to Dream," on November 27 with reference to debt reduction is not a little surprising, as my recollections is your attitude on many previous occasions was quite the contrary.

It seems you now take the view of the defeatist when you intimate nothing can be done except dream. I do not agree.

The city will certainly not get out of debt unless and until someone begins to worry about the fact that this year we collect, in round figures, $3,000,000 from property, poll, road and utilities, and pay $1,000,000 in debt reduction. Of this amount one half, or $500,000, is interest.

I believe, when faced with facts such as this, it is time someone worried and at least tried to find a solution. Dreaming is not quite good enough.

Let us take the case of the Greater Victoria Water Board which you mention. The board is faced with large expenditures beginning in about five years time. I contend it is to our advantage for the board to begin putting aside as large a sum each year as is within their ability, so that when the work is necessary the cash is available.

To put it simply, let us presume they need $1,000,000 for work to be started in 1956. Is it not sound financing to start saving an amount yearly so that the money is available to pay cash instead of borrowing.

It would mean a saving of $500,000 in interest charges which would otherwise have to be paid if this was financed in the regular way.

No one can pretend to know all the answers, but it is suggested that dreaming will not solve any of them.

FLUORINATION OF WATER

Sir,—As chairman of a large organization which was formed some years ago to challenge the chlorination of our pure water by order-in-council, against the wishes and the vote of the City Council and against the advice of its Medical Health Officer, Dr. Felton, I feel it is necessary to give notice to our present City Council, and especially to one alderman, who was most responsible of all the members of the City Council, for that action which has consigned the most pure and finest water given by God to man, to be poisoned with chlorine and ammonia, that any attempt to add fluorine to our water will be resisted.

As your correspondent Mr. E. W. Abraham has pointed out in letters, that chlorination was achieved against the recorded vote of the people by a three to one majority.

When the new mayor and council have been elected, it certainly will be our intention to ask for a re-examination of our present water supply. As a candidate stated recently in a mayoralty campaign address, "There is nothing better than pure water," and to cut out the humbug and expense of trying to improve pure water by adding anything to it which nature does not provide.

I hope that the many thousands of anti-chlorination voters who recorded their vote in the first instance against compulsory chlorination of our water, will show their keen interest in preserving our pure water supply by taking the trouble to find out where candidates for office stand on this important question.

IMPORTED WINES

Sir,—Why all the references to California wines being sold in our liquor stores? And if my eyes do not deceive me the latest proposal is that this wine be shipped here in bulk to the B.C. wineries and that they bottle same and sell under their own name.

In other words the agent representing these U.S. companies is asking the B.C. wineries to bottle their products and sell to Mr. John Doe and public as B.C. wines. And too they want the government to sanction this. Just what type of public does this representative think we are?

By TOM TAYLOR

THEY are intriguing, these German generals. There was Rommel, whom our side is bent on making a hero. Now there is Kurt Meyer.

You remember this fellow, of course. It was his S.S. thugs who shot unarmed Canadian prisoners at Caen, and for whose murder he was held responsible and sentenced to life imprisonment.

He came to Canada after the war to serve out his time (in the prison library), but now he's back in Germany. He was sneaked there in a plane.

Oh, the story got out, but it was nevertheless a secret departure. There were the usual official denials, especially the one that affirmed, unctuously, that there was no intention of giving him his freedom.

Well, what happens. A Canadian Press correspondent in Western Germany went to visit Meyer's wife last Sunday. And who does he find romping in the parlor with the kiddies—why, the one and only Mr. Kurt Meyer himself!

* * *

No, he's not free—yet. He's in a military prison now, though, and he gets home every so often—alone. Isn't that most considerate?

His freedom, I daresay, is in the offing. Just wait and see.

The C.P. man interviewed him, a most interesting conversation. Meyer, of course, is a changed man; he was converted while in Canada. He came here, he says, a fanatical German; he went back convinced nationalism is dead, "whether it be German, British or any other."

I'm afraid I don't believe him. Nationalism isn't dead, and I feel certain he's as German as ever he was.

Anyway, how did he learn this? Says he: "From all I could read and gather from talks,"—in Canada. Who was he talking to? I thought he was in prison while here!

He was fairly treated in Canada, he admits, everybody tried to help him. But of course he's glad to get back among his comrades in a military prison. And why not? There are eight other German generals there. On one side of him is Kesselring and on the other Von Manstein, war criminals both. They're studying English together, states Meyer.

I bet that's not all they are studying.

* * *

I said he had reformed, but now I'm wondering. He thinks there will be a war, and so—"all the Western powers must prepare their youth. The army is no welfare institution. . . . They cannot afford to have a soft youth."

Maybe not, but that, if I remember rightly, was a cardinal thesis of the Hitler program. And the division Kurt Meyer commanded was packed with nothing but Hitler youth, fanatical and ruthless. Looks as though Mr. Meyer's thinking hasn't altered much.

Naturally enough, he would become a soldier again in a moment. Not as a member of a German army alone—oh dear no, don't think that of him. Just as a member of a European army.

(The clue. "What would be the use of a German army alone?")

Likely enough he'll have his chance. We may expect to see him back in harness any day—at the head of a German force integrated with Eisenhower's European army.

War, like politics, doesn't appreciate irony. He'll maybe operate alongside the 27th Canadian Brigade, brothers of the young men Meyer's S.S. thugs shot to death in cold blood at Caen.

Ah well, I suppose we should be thankful for small mercies. For, presumably, at least they won't put the 27th Brigade under his command.

Or will they?

Reports From Ottawa

AFTER having seen the parliamentary committee on retail price maintenance in action, I am impressed by its lack of agreement on where it is going and what it is trying to do.

At its fourth session, for example, chairman Jim Sinclair (Lib., Coast-Capilano), put one question to the 36-man joint Senate-Commons group. In simple, unparliamentary language it was, "Where do we go from here, boys?"

An hour and a quarter later that question still hadn't been answered to everybody's satisfaction. Some members, like Ross Thatcher (C.C.F., Moose Jaw), and Davie Fulton (P.C., Kamloops), were for giving every interested organization an opportunity to have its representatives appear and argue the pros and cons of price maintenance. They also wanted to dig into facts and figures, and to cross-examine executives of large companies which peg prices.

Others, like Sinclair and Justice Minister Garson, wanted to limit the committee's inquiry. They argued it wasn't their job to thresh old straw from the McQuarrie Royal Commission on the combines law, but rather to act as a court to hear the appeal from the McQuarrie commission's judgment that retail price fixing should be banned.

* * *

Sinclair: If the committee heard everybody, "We'll be here till next summer."

Thatcher: "Let them try to justify their case."

Garson: "There's been nothing that has transpired in this committee to date that would move me one-eighth of an inch from the government's decision (to ban price fixing). The purpose of the committee is to see if there's some substantial reason for reconsidering the McQuarrie committee report."

Sinclair: "The question is whether price fixing is to the public interest—not that of manufacturers and retailers."

John Dickie (Lib., Halifax): "We're like a court of appeal."

Garson: "Like a court of appeal hearing a petition for leave to appeal."

While this was going on, a five-man delegation representing the Canadian Retailers' Federation sat figuratively biting its collective fingernails, waiting to go on the witness stand. A handful of curious M.P.'s and others listened with various degrees of interest. And Mrs. H. Vautelet of Montreal, national vice-president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, made copious notes for C.A.C. guidance in presenting its own brief opposing price maintenance.

* * *

R. A. Harris, of Windsor, was seldom at a loss for words in arguing for price maintenance. He said the overwhelming majority of the members of his C.R.F. believed price pegging had a stabilizing influence, protected the public, limited and equalized prices and profits, and did not unduly restrict competition.

Fulton: "Who benefits more from price maintenance—the manufacturer or the retailer?"

Harris: "The consumer."

Fulton: "Which—the manufacturer or the retailer?"

Harris: "It's mutually beneficial—and I'd put the consumer in there too."

Harris contended that mark-up margins generally were less on price-pegged articles than on those without fixed prices, and he admitted that retailers looked for non-price-maintained items because on them they could take higher mark-ups.

Rene Jutras (Lib., Provencher, Man.): "How about the more efficient retailers?"

Harris: "They pass on the benefits to the consumer."

Sinclair: "How?"

Harris: "On items not price-maintained."

The committee guffawed.

Saturday Bank Closure

(From The Globe and Mail, Toronto)

THE point of interest to the public is that banking is a service. It is not a manufacturing process which may be stopped or speeded up to maintain an even flow of delivery. The large number of working people who have no other opportunity than Saturday morning to get to a bank ought not to be disregarded lightly. The convenience of the bank should not be more important than the rights of its customers.

Presuming the inevitability of the Saturday closing, it seems to us that the practise of night opening, one or two nights a week, ought to be adopted. This practise is followed in many parts of the United States, and certain savings banks in Quebec Province make such a service available to their customers. Another compensating service would be arrangements for making deposits at night or at other times the banks are closed by "posting" deposits in a slot in the wall of the bank. This also has worked in practise in the United States.

Much might be said about the modern tendency to place service beneath convenience or inclination. It is an evidence of the growing weakness in the fibre of society. But there are still outposts which maintain their responsibility toward the public, such as transportation and communication systems, newspapers, police and fire services, and others. Their employees enjoy the freedom of the five-day week, but the work does not stop. We commend the example to the chartered banks.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

MANY of those who heard Prime Minister Churchill's speech over the B.B.C. shortly after his accession to power must have been furiously irritated by the voice of some gentleman sitting quite near him at the head table who kept barking phone "Hyuh! Hyuh!"

This is the statesmanesque pronunciation of "Here! Here!" in Britain. Mr. Churchill's style of speaking is superb. His timing is that of a great actor as much as that of an orator. His pauses should be filled, as all of us know who were his dedicated followers on radio during the war, with either distant cheers or deep emotional silence. This character sitting next to him at the banquet referred to felt called upon to fill in every pause of the great man with this silly hollow of a "Hyuh! Hyuh!" To some of the listeners, it seemed a sorry commentary on the Tory win in Britain. Listening to the absurd sound, one could envisage a big, fat man in a size 18 collar, with bulging eyes, the type Low used to draw as companions of Colonel Blimp. We don't want any of those close enough to Mr. Churchill to share the mike.

As a matter of fact, this "Here! Here!" business is one of the less admirable features of our parliamentary system. The word "here" has not the character required for approbation. In our Ottawa House of Commons, it has a shrill, nasal sound, the way we pronounce it in Canadian. Some of the sturdier parliamentarians can get a good chesty sound to it; but many of those lean lawyers in the house say it through their noses, and it sounds a little like a snear.

The British give it that "Hyuh!" or "Hyaw!" sound. But there being more sopranos and tenors than baritones among politicians both in Canada and Britain, Westminster can actually sound like a turkey farm when the whole house starts yelping.

Folk Art

By WILLIAM RUTHERFORD

(In Unesco Features)

RECENTLY the first museum dedicated exclusively to the folk art of the world came into being. The basic aim of the Museum of International Folk Art at Santa Fe, New Mexico, is to encourage understanding and appreciation of the cultures and crafts of the world's different countries and societies.

Have you ever wondered why some people wear grass skirts? Or what they think of other people who encase their limbs in several thicknesses of material, with an extra one wrapped around their throats, and then spend time and energy fanning themselves to keep cool?

Does it seem strange to you (as it did to George Bernard Shaw) that in some societies the custom is to take flesh from dead animals, char or cook it, and then eat it; or that in others millions of people spend their entire lives without once thinking of eating meat? Do you know that some people eat foods that others won't touch, that what you consider a delicacy is very disagreeable to others? Would you be surprised to know that in some countries children's bodies are tightly bound to keep them straight, or that in others the children are urged to freely exercise their bodies to attain the same end?

You might also wonder that certain tools, utensils and weapons belonging to a culture extinct for hundreds of years have been found to have an amazing resemblance to those of another culture situated on the other side of the world—when there was no possible contact between the two. A method of curing meat used by Eskimos at the North Pole is also used by some Indian groups in the Amazon Basin in South America. Similarly, parallel decorative designs (using for example the zig-zag line known as the "Greek chain") have been found on pottery and in fabrics from such distinct cultures and periods as ancient Greece, ancient India (when these two civilizations were unknown to each other), and ancient China.

These similarities and dissimilarities are a particular interest in the new museum which hopes to contribute towards better understanding among the peoples of the world. An understanding not only of how people act and think in different cultures and countries but also the basic reasons why they act the way they do, will go a long way towards cementing bonds between them and improving international fellowship.

With the Classics

From "The Lady of Shalott"

All in the blue unclouded weather
Thick-jewell'd shone the saddle-leather,
The helmet and the helmet-feather
Burn'd like one burning flame together,
As he rode down to Camelot.
As often thro the purple light,
Below the starry clusters bright,
Some bearded meteor, trailing light,
Moves over still Camelot.
His broad clear brow in sun light glow'd;
On burnished hooves his war-horse trode;
From underneath his helmet flow'd
His coal-black curls as on he rode,
As he rode down to Camelot.
From the bank and from the river
He flash'd into the crystal mirror,
"Tirra lirra," by the river
Sang Sir Lancelot.

Ottawa Asks Clearance If Dredging Damages

The federal government, planning a huge dredging operation in Victoria's inner harbor, has asked the city to release it from any claims resulting from possible damage to Johnson Street and Point Ellice Bridges.

Public works committee voted Tuesday to refer the question to the council for a decision.

The plan involves removal of more than 100,000 cubic yards of mud from the bottom of the harbor from the Johnson Street Bridge to the Selkirk waters.

"If they damage one of our bridges, they should pay for it," said Ald. Millard Mooney, expressing alarm over the possibility.

Engineer Cyril Jones explained that the project called for removal of silt from the harbor floor by suction. He said the plan called for only a small amount of dredging in the Point Ellice Bridge vicinity as the water was already fairly deep.

"I don't think it could result in any damage to either of the bridges," he informed the committee.

The project, still in the early planning stage, would also involve dumping the silt at the shoreline at various points and extending the land line.

One of these points has been tentatively set at Banfield Park. Residents of the area recently approved the idea at a meeting in the Victoria West Community Centre.

It was proposed that the reclaimed land could be made into a children's playground as an extension of the park.

No action was taken on a request to the provincial government from J. G. Nordal, Gorge Auto Court operator, for foreshore rights on Selkirk Water.

The city had been asked for its opinion on Mr. Nordal's request. In view of the uncertainty of the dredging plans and the need for a decision on the damage releases, the committee decided to consider Mr. Nordal's request at a later date.

Mr. Nordal claims that his tourist business may be jeopardized by gradual encroaching by the B.C. Forest Products with booms and fill.

Ship Chartered For Immigrants

In view of the heavy demand for trans-Atlantic space anticipated for next year for immigrant movements to Canada, the 27,000-ton Mv. Georgic has again been chartered from the British government by the Cunard Line. Officials of the steamship line say the ship will make nine round-trip Atlantic crossings throughout 1952.

The Georgic has accommodation for 1,500 passengers on a one-class basis.

Sidney Theft Suspects Still Sought

Police on Southern Vancouver Island are still searching for a safe and the men responsible for stealing it from the Sidney Cash and Carry Store last Sunday.

Missing with the safe is about $500 cash, $60 in American coins and about $100 in check and bonds.

An old model light delivery truck is believed to have been used to cart away the 300-pound safe.

The Jivaro Indians of ancient Peru had a custom of mummifying human heads.

Provincial Government Backs Trans-Mountain Application for Oil Pipe Line

Then it would follow the south bank of the Fraser to Port Mann and on into Burnaby.

A feeder line could be added to draw oil from B.C.'s Peace River country, if developments warrant it. A wildcat well struck oil there Nov. 4.

The premier said he didn't know if Trans-Mountain planned to add a natural-gas line.

EXPORTS POSSIBLE

The Trans-Mountain line promises big things for B.C., Premier Johnson said at his press conference.

"Canada will really become an oil-exporting nation," he said, with Vancouver as its hub.

Trans-Mountain plans call for a line with an initial capacity of 75,000 barrels a day which, after deducting B.C.'s present consumption of 44,000 barrels, leaves a healthy exportable surplus.

Capacity could be increased to 200,000 barrels, which would satisfy almost all the demands of the Pacific Northwest states.

The premier said B.C. undoubtedly will add new refineries to its present three, all near Vancouver.

Imperial oil is planning to step up its Ioco plant, and Shell Oil is known to be planning expansion. B.C. refinery capacity should be 37,500 barrels by the time the line is completed, Mr. Johnson said.

It would take 1,700 men to build the line and 200 to operate it.

The premier appeared confident the Trans-Mountain application would be approved by the transport board.

He said assistant deputy attorney-general Alan MacLean would speak for B.C. at the hearing and that he himself would be in Ottawa to keep an eye on things.

The announcement was seen as a political victory for Trans-Mountain in the year-long parliamentary squabble over oil and gas pipelines.

U.S. ROUTE FOUGHT

Trans-Mountain's application for incorporation was sponsored by Arthur Laing, Vancouver Liberal M.P. Other B.C. members of parliament filibustered to ensure an all-Canadian gas line to the coast and opposed an application by a firm which proposed to pump oil to B.C. by way of the U.S.

The western M.P.'s wanted to make sure that B.C. got in on the new money the oil is bound to bring.

In Edmonton yesterday, Premier E. C. Manning said Alberta's only concern was to see that the line followed the shortest, most economical route. He said the oil must be brought to the coast at a price competitive with California crude.

Trans-Mountain was formed by six major oil companies: Imperial, Standard of B.C., Shell of Canada, Canadian Gulf, Union of California and Richfield, backed by the huge U.S. engineering firm of S. D. Bechtel and Associates.

Other companies which have been fighting for pipeline permits are Westcoast Transmission, which wants to bring Alberta gas and oil through the Rockies and across B.C.; Alberta Natural Gas, which proposed an oil-and-gas line through the northern U.S., and Independent Pipe Line, which planned an oil only to Port Moody, presumably on an all-Canadian route.

The Border Pipeline Company wanted to bring oil through Spokane and Seattle, then up to Vancouver. Its incorporation was blocked by western members at parliament's last session.

Pension Total Anticipated

OTTAWA, Nov. 28 (CP). — Health Minister Martin said today in the Commons he expects that by Dec. 31 a total of 685,000 people will have applied for the federal pension of $40 a month, starting next January.

The number of applicants would not be very far from the 700,000 originally estimated as the total of persons 70 and over who qualified for the pension.

George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, said it now is possible for applicants to ask that census records be used as proof of their age.

Press to Be Barred By Planning Board

The press is to be barred from future meetings of the Capital Region Planning Board, it was decided at the first meeting of the board held in city hall Tuesday.

All future sessions will be held behind firmly-closed doors. The press will be given releases by a board member, at intervals to be decided by the board.

As the meeting drew to its close, Mrs. Grace Shaw, Saanich councillor, said she had one further question to ask.

"Should our meetings be open to the press?" she asked.

"Definitely not," said F. W. Nicolls, provincial government appointee to the board and newly-elected temporary chairman of the board.

"Any publicity we get," he continued, "should be of an educational nature and the press should not be here unless invited."

"I feel," said Mrs. Shaw, "that the public should get their information direct, and not through their newspapers."

"When I served as head of several town planning commissions when I was director of housing in the Dominion government (1937-45) we never allowed the press to attend. Rezoning might come up which should not be public knowledge."

H. D. Dawson, municipal engineer of Saanich disagreed. He said the public should know what was going on.

"They'll think there is some "star chamber" work going on unless they have information through their papers," he added.

Mr. Nicolls disagreed with Mr. Dawson.

"The public doesn't have to be informed as we are not spending public funds; it is for the municipal councils to approve or reject. We are merely an advisory board."

"DON'T TELL ALL"

Major Cuthbert Holmes, who is also a member of the town planning commission said: "The trouble with the press is that, while they tell the truth, they don't tell the whole truth."

J. H. Doughty-Davies, director of regional planning division, said: "I have had some unhappy experiences with the press."

Mrs. W. J. Shepherd, secretary of the Victoria Town Planning Commission, only other member of the board to agree with Mr. Dawson, said the press should be allowed to attend meetings.

"When I worked on town planning in Winnipeg, we found the press very helpful. They actually sat on the board as well."

Mrs. Shaw then made the motion that future meetings be closed to the press. It was carried.

Major Holmes then approached the two press representatives and said, while he had nothing against the press, he felt that planning information made public would be of great interest to land speculators.

Group Given National Link

Victoria Newmanites—approximately 50 in number—are now affiliated with 3,000 other Newman Alumni in all the Canadian provinces.

It was announced yesterday that the Newman Alumni Association of Victoria has been awarded affiliation with the Canadian Federation of Newman Clubs. The local group was founded less than two years ago through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hall, Dr. and Mrs. E. J. W. Nash, Stanley Knox and Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Amyot.

Composed of Catholic university students, Newman clubs are named for John Henry Cardinal Newman. First Newman club was formed 40 years ago at the University of Toronto. There are now 21 Canadian clubs. President of the Victoria Alumni Club is Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre.

"Now why didn't I learn that long ago!"
"Imagine, I've been married four years and all that time I've thought my baking was as good as could be. It was good too. But nothing like the cakes and pastries I've been making since I learned the modern way. You see, I discovered that it takes a specially finely sifted flour made from the softest kinds of wheat to make perfect cakes and pastry. Well, it certainly made the family sit up and ask for more when I started baking with Monarch Cake and Pastry Flour. So delightfully tender and a wonderful texture. But after all . . . it just stands to reason that you can bake better cakes and pastries with a flour made specially for non-yeast baking."

Services College Retains Admiral Nelles Trophy

Canadian Services College retained Admiral Nelles Trophy, emblematic of Vancouver Island cross-country running supremacy, by posting low point-total in annual Royal Roads invitational cross-country race yesterday. Cadets led with 18 points against 21 for Victoria High School. Other team totals were University School, 81 points; H.M.C.S. Naden, 87 points; Victoria College 91 points, and Oak Bay High School, 106 points. Individual winner was Pete Kirchner of Victoria High who completed four-mile course in 21.19, five seconds off record set last year by Cadet Soule of Royal Roads. Start of race is shown above with Kirchner on extreme right. —(Colonist photos by Bud Kinsman.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (CP).—New York Rangers burst out with their biggest scoring spree of the season tonight as they defeated Chicago Black Hawks 6-3 at Madison Square Garden to move into a three-way tie for third place in the National Hockey League.

The defeat dumped the Black Hawks into last place, a single point behind the Rangers, Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens.

Tonight's high-scoring game was watched by 8,135 fans.

Both goal tenders were brilliant, Chuck Rayner making some great saves in the New York net, and Harry Lumley performing brilliantly for Chicago.

Lumley, who was playing with an injured left knee, had 36 saves compared with 22 for Rayner.

Monarchs to Play Without Sponsor

VANCOUVER, Nov. 28—Kerrisdale Monarchs will play Nanaimo Clippers in Vancouver Friday and in Nanaimo Saturday, without a sponsor.

"I have told the boys they can use the equipment," owner Sid Hole said today, "they can keep all the gate receipts. I feel I have contributed all I can to justify their expenses.

"If they want to carry on, they can use the equipment and they might get by on the gate receipts."

Sinning Expensive As Merchants Lose First-Place Battle

HOW THEY STAND

Individuals	2	4	1	26	25	5
Civil Service	2	4	1	21	30	5
Navy	2	4	1	19	27	5

Next games, Wednesday: Army vs. Seven-Ups; Navy vs. Individuals; Civil Service vs. Victoria Merchants.

Jim Lackie's Victoria Merchants found out last night that penalties can do a lot of harm, even in the Commercial Hockey League.

The Merchants lost a 5-4 decision to 7-Ups as the Bottlers capitalized to the fullest extent on six Merchant penalties. All five 7-Up goals were scored while a Merchant was cooling his heels in the penalty box.

JENSEN CAUGHT OFTEN

Rod Jensen was the biggest offender. Three goals, including the winning one, were scored while he was sitting out three different infractions. Rudy Pishko and Al Arnold also became 7-Up helpmates as they watched the winners score from the penalty box.

The victory enabled Bottlers to again take over sole possession of first place, two points in front of Merchants. 7-Ups broke a first-place tie three weeks ago when they trounced Merchants in the teams' first meeting of the season.

ELLIS MISSED

Conspicuous by his absence was Ab Ellis, Victoria Merchants' star goaltender. Ellis has been suffering with influenza all week. His position was taken by Don Thomas, Merchants' spare net-minder.

Army pulled itself into third place, two points behind Merchants by whipping Individuals, 7-3. The Soldiers apparently reached their stride as they came up with their best scoring display of the season for their second successive win.

In the opening game of the program Navy overcame a 2-0 deficit to tie Civil Service, 2-2. The draw moves the teams into a tie with Individuals for fourth spot.

Details of the game, including the return of Al Stanley, a member of the Navy club which won the playoff championship two years ago, Stanley was inserted on a line with his former mates, Paul Wannamaker and Bunker Hill, and for the first time this season, Navy's No. 1 line was flying.

The Sailors displayed a much-improved attack but had trouble getting the puck past Dave Friesen, G-Men's goalie, who turned in a standout game. He stood off the Navy attack almost single-handed several times as the Sailors swarmed around his net.

The game, especially the third period, produced some of the best hockey of the season.

Next game, tonight: New Westminster at Saskatoon.

New Westminster Royals and Seattle Ironmen pulled farther ahead of the remaining teams in the Pacific Coast Hockey League last night by posting victories over Edmonton Flyers and Vancouver Canucks, respectively.

The leading Royals handed Flyers their sixth straight loss, 4-2, before 5,500 fans at Edmonton. It was Royal's sixth straight undefeated game.

The runner-up Ironmen stretched their margin over the third-place Saskatoon Quakers to five points by edging Canucks, 6-5, at Seattle.

BRENNAN STARRY

Only spectacular work by Edmonton goalie Bill Brennan prevented New Westminster from rolling up a more decisive margin. Gordie Fashoway scored twice for Royals while Ollie Dorohoy picked up a goal and an assist to boost his point lead over brother Eddie of Victoria Cougars to three points. Bob Love also earned a goal and an assist to continue his fast scoring pace of recent games.

Seattle ran up a 4-0 lead in the first 10 minutes but had to right to the finish to down Canucks. Larry Popein sparked the Canucks with three assists as they reduced the deficit to 5-2 at the end of the first period and finally tied the count at 5-5 late in the second period. Stan Maxwell slapped in a re-bound of Jack Jackson's shot to net the winner at 7:05 in the final period.

England Retains Record

England still has to lose an international soccer match at home but Englishmen the world over breathed a sigh of relief yesterday when the strong Austrian side was held to a 2-2 draw. The Austrians, who have a fine attacking centre-half in Ocwirk and feature a V-shaped attacking formation in which the centre-forward plays at the bottom and the inside-left is the spearhead, were actually favored and the stalemate was a moral victory and a vindication of the selection committee. Selectors made a drastic change when Wolverhampton's Wright, England captain, was shifted from wing half to inside left in an apparently successful effort to aid the attack with his noted through passes which would be meant for centre-forward Nat Lofthouse and inside-right Stan Mortenson . . . a belated and apologetic answer to P. O. Harry Tivy: Max Schmeling won the world heavyweight championship on a foul from Jack Sharkey on June 12, 1930, at New York, lost it back to Sharkey on June 21, 1932, by decision in a 15-round bout . . . With seats priced at $8.80, $7.20 and $6, it is hardly surprising, in view of the season's records, that tickets for Saturday's Army-Navy football game are going begging . . . Norm Forbes, Jr., one of the city's more-promising young baseball players, is attending University of Oregon and reportedly impressed in Autumn workouts . . . Everyone hopes that the myriad wrongs which have been listed in the Memorial Arena survey will be rectified soon and that manager Joe Dukowski will be given the authority and the adequate help to make a job of his job . . . A Sydney bookmaker has announced his willingness to take unlimited bets on the Davis Cup final, quoting the United States as 3-2 favorites to regain the tennis trophy from Australia . . . Roger Leger, who has been seeing considerable extra action for the Cougars, is down to 200 pounds, the lightest he has been for some years . . . the Victoria and District Football Association passed up a great chance to improve soccer relationships in Victoria when they refused to play a benefit game against Victoria United for Einar Flaaiten. The alternate plan of getting each team to make a donation and the claim that this would bring in more than a benefit match was not agreeable, and understandably so. It was no surprise that United went ahead with plans to bring in a Coast Soccer League side. It should be said here that president Charlie Lewis and secretary Don Gray were in favor but, as is usual, received no co-operation from the majority of team delegates . . .

Timely Picture Worth Seeing

Particularly timely in view of the recent "exposes" concerning college sport in the U.S., the film "Saturday's Hero," which opens today at the Odeon Theatre, is well worth seeing. It makes no attempt to moralize but it is a believable factual presentation which has been ably directed and holds interest from start to finish . . . the University of Utah football team has 15 married players, no doubt one of the big reasons a chance to play in the Pineapple Bowl at Honolulu was turned down in a player vote . . . Nick Lystar, coach of the Esquimalt Boxing Club, won't divulge his name but claims he will have a Canadian champion next spring . . . a New York report states that there will be no return match between Ray Robinson and Randy Turpin in London next summer and that Joe Walcott will defend his heavyweight championship against Ezzard Charles in Miami this winter . . . Herb Dickenson, rookie forward of the New York Rangers who has been showing well since getting his N.H.L. chance a few days ago, is a promising harness-horse driver on Toronto and Batavia tracks during the off-season . . . One never ceases to wonder at the statements which report hockey officials stating that "amateur" hockey must be retained on the Pacific Coast and, at the same time, admitting that high salaries are mainly responsible for financial difficulties . . . Alan Sawyer broke two ribs in his last Coast Soccer League match and the unfortunate Vancouver City entry will be without their steady fullback for some weeks . . . although crowds are up over last season, Victoria United is still not paying its way and benefactor George Eade may have a big bill to foot. It seems that the city should consider reducing its rental for Royal Athletic Park, increased from 15 to 20 per cent this season. United has paid an average of over $80 a match, which is a bit steep for an amateur organization which derives no benefit from concession sales . . . Nancy Craig and Val Druce are leaving tonight to compete in the P.N.W. Tabe Tennis Tournament at North Vancouver tomorrow and Friday . . . the Cougars could come up with a good second line if coach Roger Leger goes through with his plan to flank Jack McIntyre with Doug Anderson and Bob Ballance. McIntyre has played well at centre although handicapped by lack of solid wingers; Anderson is a sound two-way hockey player and Ballance could still be one of the best in the P.C.H.L. Now, if a sound defenseman could be found, the Cougars wouldn't be too badly off. There is little chance of getting Stan Long, reportedly a stickout with Buffalo.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Detroit and Toronto in the N.H.L. and Saskatoon over Royals in the P.C.H.L. Batting average to date: At bat 452, hits 328, percentage .726.

Almond Stopped By Bobby Woods

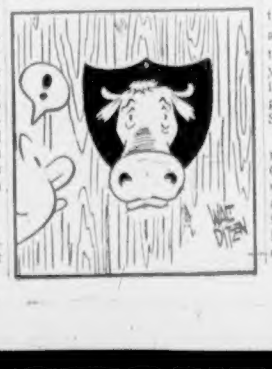
SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 28 (CP)—Bobby Woods of Spokane tonight chopped out a technical kayo victory in the ninth round over Frank Almond of Vancouver, Canadian featherweight champion.

The referee stopped the bout at 1:19 of that round when Almond's corner threw in the towel. There were no knockdowns, but Almond was reeling helplessly.

The bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, was billed as a north-west featherweight title match.

The Toronto Telegram has suggested editorially that W. D. (Denny) Whitaker of Hamilton be named commissioner of Canadian Football.

FAN FARE By Walt Ditzen



Kirchner displays running style as he breasts finishing line. Other top ten runners in order were: Watson (R.R.), Altwasser (R.R.), Black (R.R.), Wood (V. H.S.), Hubascher (V.C.), Whan (V.H.S.), Oldham (V.H.S.), Bepple (R.R.), Brodeur (R.R.).

Mainland XI To Play In Benefit

Victoria United will play a benefit match for Einar Flaaiten, their Norwegian forward who received a serious kidney injury in a Coast Soccer League match earlier this month, at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday, Dec. 8.

An unnamed C.S.L. team, perhaps Firefighters or North Shore will provide the opposition, United president George Eade announced last night.

Decision to bring in a C.S.L. team was made when Victoria and District Football Association delegates decided against selecting an all-star team and suggested instead a donation from each of their seven teams.

Further plans will be announced shortly, but it is likely that the United Booster Club, which has already collected about $100, will handle pre-game ticket sales and that the offer of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association to stage a preliminary game would be accepted.

Cougars Plan New Lines For Game With Rockets

Smarting from that 10-2 lacing at Vancouver Tuesday night, Victoria Cougars are hoping to take it out on Tacoma Rockets tomorrow night at Memorial Arena. And fresh in their minds, too, is that 6-1 trimming the Rockets handed out here Nov. 16.

It may be a greatly-changed club which confronts the Rockets tomorrow. Coach Roger Leger, not at all happy with the performances of some of his players, is planning some line-up switches to see if he can't find a winning combination with the material on hand.

Leger expects to have Bobby Ballance, purchased Tuesday from Vancouver, in strip, and the high-scoring rightwinger will probably work on a line with Jack McIntyre at centre and Doug Anderson on left wing.

Fred Hutchinson, general manager of the Cougars, stated last night that he knew nothing about a Vancouver report that Ballance was demanding $500 to sign. He said Ballance had agreed to terms and should arrive this morning by boat.

Also on the brighter side yesterday was the report that Ed Dorohoy's eye injury is not serious and that it is possible the starry centre will be ready for the Rockets.

He will likely be reinstalled between Bob Frampton and Andy Hebenton with Reg Abbott, still needing a few games to get back in top condition, working between Joe Evans and Joe Medynski. Bob Bowness would see service with this unit and Leon Bouchard will move back to a defense post.

There was nothing definite last night on whether it would be Jim Shirley or Jerry Cotnoir in goal.

Hutchinson is still running up telephone and telegraph tolls trying to find additional player help and hopes to unearth another player or two in the near future.

Bratton Reverses Form, Battles Gavilan to Draw

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (AP).—Johnny Bratton, showing a complete reversal of form, tonight fought Cuba's Kid Gavilan, world's welterweight champion, to a blistering 10-round draw in the Chicago Stadium.

Bratton, who held the 147-pound title for 65 days before losing it to Gavilan in New York's Madison Square Garden last May 18, was a 3-to-1 underdog in the wagering on the non-title fight.

Referee William Doty voted 48-52 in favor of Bratton, with Judge John Bray balloting 52-48 in favor of the titleholder. The other judge, Frank McAdams, scored his tally 50-50.

Bratton, whose fragile jaw was fractured three times in previous encounters, undoubtedly fought the most impressive battle of his major competition. He exchanged blows with the one-time Cuban sugar cane picker without retreating and outboxed him in furious rallies.

The draw ended Gavilan's consecutive winning streak at 13 bouts.

Gavilan's title was not at stake since the match was an over-weight limit.

The stirring bout, televised from coast to coast, was witnessed by a paid attendance of 7,397 with gross receipts at $27,138. The net was $20,875.

Gavilan opened a cut at the edge of Bratton's right eye in the first round and cut a gash in the right side of Bratton's nose in the second. However, Bratton made a gallant stand, exchanging blows and finishing strongly. He won the last two rounds by clearly outboxing Gavilan at long range boxing.

United Must Be Tops Saturday

Victoria United is going to have to be at its best if it hopes to avenge the loss to Collingwood in the Dominion Cup series last year when the two clubs tangle in a second-round Anderson Cup game at Royal Athletic Park Saturday.

One of the first movers for promotion and relegation in the Coast Soccer League, Collingwood has built a strong club in an attempt to be the first team to gain admission to the province's leading soccer league under this system.

The Collies are well ahead in the C.S.L. second division and the well-balanced line-up is expected to give United a stiff battle.

The former Vancouver and District League club has no defensive worries. The goaltending is in the capable hands of Jack McMurray, who is protected by the strong fullback combination of Ab (Red) Dougan and Ron Williams. Dougan is well known to Victoria fans as a member of the Victoria Machinery Depot team during the war.

Two-thirds of the sound halfback line are also familiar. Jack Connell, who played fullback for Vancouver City in the C.S.L. last season, is playing sound soccer on the right flank of the intermediate line. On the opposite side is Stu Ross, who played with the former Kerrisdale entry in the C.S.L. three years ago. Pivoting the line is Dave Fryatt, who is considered one of the best centre halves in the game today and is sound on both defense and attack.

GOOD PLAYMAKERS

The Collies have three good playmakers at the inside positions on the attacking unit. At centre forward is Don Radelet, former St. Andrew's player, who is a hustling player and a potent goal-scorer. He is flanked at inside right by Mario Cristiano, who is still considered one of the best playmakers in Vancouver despite his white hair, and at inside left by Dave Morton, former outside right with New Westminster Royals. The forward line is completed by Merrill Gordon at outside right and Jim Crawford at left wing.

Collingwood is well supplied with good substitutes in Gordon Shepherd, formerly of Varsity, Charlie McKay, Austin Beese and Jim Chisholm.

Markets Fail to React To Cease-Fire Reports

By AP and CP

The New York Stock Market was a busy, even nervous, one of gains and losses today. It ended fractionally to the close free of net change.

The Associated Press average dropped 30 cents at 56.90. In the morning it was down 70 cents.

Profit taking toward the end of the session closed about half of the Toronto Stock Market's early gains.

Investors and manufacturing companies formed the market's broad base of fractional advances. Base metal, oil and supply issues made little headway. Volume was 2,700,000 shares.

Montreal prices, following two days of brisk advance, were steady to slightly lower near the close on the stock exchange and curb market. Trading was moderate.

A minor portion of the list declined in the opening hour. Advances were general thereafter.

Mines and base metals were the group most noted.

Prices eased on the Vancouver Stock Exchange although trading was fairly active.

Prices were somewhat irregular on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as early losses were erased or reduced.

Export bookings of Canadian wheat increased sharply last week, the United Kingdom booking a total of 5,000,000 bushels for prompt shipment to Canada and overseas ports. Exports last week were 7,000,000 bushels, compared with 4,000,000 bushels the previous week.

Prices for cash wheat were up 1½ cents from the previous close. Oats were up ½ cent, barley unchanged and rye up ½ cent.

Prices were irregular on the Montreal Curb Market.

Young Artists Present Fine Musical Program

By RAY BAINES

A parade of highly talented young musicians, alumni of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, enchanted a fairly large audience last night in a recital at the Metropolitan United Church.

Featuring guest artists John Dunbar, baritone, and Patricia Shakespeare, pianist, the musicale was presented by the Amica and Silver Star Women's Auxiliary groups of the Metropolitan Church.

The musicians were amateurs, but only in the true sense of the word, not in its modern day implication. They didn't get paid, but they were good.

VARIED PROGRAM

The varied instrumental and vocal program led off with a piano quartette featuring Helen Gibson, Jean Gilbert, Merle Chandler and Dorothy Ells. The first selection was a portion of the Beethoven Symphony No. 1, arranged for four hands. The second group included the colorful "Dance of the Buffoons" by Rimsky-Korsakoff.

Mr. Dunbar sang two groups. Here's a young man that probably won't stay long in Victoria. Possessing a warm, rich voice with power and control, Mr. Dunbar is destined for bigger things. Among these will be a chance on the C.B.C. Singing Stars of Tomorrow, he learned recently.

Among his songs was Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song" and the rollicking "Blow, Blow Thou Winter Wind" by Quilter.

PIPE ORGAN

An interesting addition to the recital was a pipe organ group by talented Joyce Richardson. The grandiose "Bells of Riverside" by Seth Bingham filled the church with thrilling and thunderous melody.

Patricia Shakespeare, a young pianist with more talent than years, held the listeners in rapt attention with, among other works, Bartok's "Sonatina" and Chopin's Scherzo in B flat minor.

Another young lady, Lorna Griffiths, offered a very pretty voice and a self-assured manner. Her group included a Handel aria "O Sleep."

Rounding out a very full program was the piano duo, Dorothy Gough and Noel Smith, in a waltz, Suite Op 15 by Arensky. Miss Gough also acted as accompanist for the vocalists.

City Boosted By Booklet

Victoria received a boost from an unusual source with publication of a booklet entitled "The Dominion Astrophysical Observatory," written by Dr. R. M. Petrie, director.

The booklet, a non-technical account of the observatory and its work, recounts the reasons that the southern tip of Vancouver Island was chosen for the 73-inch telescope.

The book says, "The great light-gathering power of a large telescope is made ineffective if disturbed atmospheric conditions prevail. In this respect Victoria was found to be much superior to the drier, and perhaps clearer, regions of central Canada."

The booklet, written for the understanding of a layman, is packed with interesting data and well-illustrated by photos and diagrams.

Athabaskan Praised By Admiral

OTTAWA, Nov. 28 (CP).—The Canadian destroyer Athabaskan, serving off the west coast of Korea, has earned a "well done" from Vice Admiral Martin, U.S.N., commander of United Nations naval forces in the Far East.

Naval headquarters said today the praise resulted from an inshore blockade and bombardment assignment the Athabaskan carried out earlier this month.

Under Cmdr. D. G. King of Victoria, the Athabaskan acted as a decoy and fired on remote targets; delivered arms to a friendly island; stood by a Communist-threatened island for six days, and took aboard 47 wounded South Koreans for removal to Inchon for medical attention.

The ship's medical officer, Surgeon Lieutenant C. A. West of Toronto, and his medical assistant, Petty Officer M. B. Lavoie of Victoria, had to prepare facilities for the injured Koreans during the 18-hour trip south. Seaman evacuated most of their messdecks to make room.

The assignment over, the Athabaskan is again back at its regular job of screening United Nations aircraft carriers.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 D	3 S	4 H	Pass
6 H	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
Pass	Pass	Pass

North interpreted South's four-heart bid too optimistically, ignoring the fact that South might have been crowded by East's shutout attempt, and that South did not really need anything but a long and strong heart suit to justify his call. This, although North had about a trick better than a minimum opening, he should have been satisfied to play at four hearts if the opponents permitted it. This is said in full knowledge of the fact that, with the cards placed as they were, South should have brought home the slam.

West opened his top spade. The ace won, and declarer made the inexcusable mistake of then drawing two rounds of trumps —"to keep any one from ruffing anything." Only after he had thus reduced his communications from hand to hand did he start setting up dummy's diamonds. The quite normal 4-2 break of the suit left him high and dry, and he could not dispose of his losing spade.

The obviously correct method of play was to lead only one trump, leaving the K-8 in dummy, then to cash the top diamonds and ruff a diamond with a high trump. Now, of course, dummy would be re-entered with a trump to the king and another diamond ruffed. Once more South would go to dummy with a trump, to discard his spade on the established diamond; then he would ruff dummy's spade and lead a club toward the king.

There was no real risk in cashing the top diamonds while a trump was still at large, because if the diamond suit broke so badly that the second round could be ruffed by a defender the hand could not be made.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

Uncle Wiggily was going to ask Pat Butter, the grocery store goat why it was that ice cream cones were scarce. But just then, as I told you in yesterday's story, there was a rustling noise in the bushes.

"Maybe my ice cream cones are coming now," bleated Uncle Butter.

"I don't believe ice cream cones will come through the bushes all by themselves," said Uncle Wiggily. "And I don't understand, Pat, why you are in so much trouble just because you have no ice cream cones. But first we must find out who is making that rustling noise in the bushes."

"Maybe, Wiggy," bleated the goat gentleman, "it is one of those new foxes coming to tease you."

"Oh, I hope not!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. He looked at the bushes, where he and Mr. Butter had heard the noise. Then out came running Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels. Each one was carrying a piece of white bark from a birch tree.

"Hello, Johnnie and Billie!" greeted Uncle Wiggily. "What are you doing here?"

"We are on our way to recite our lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher in Hollow Tree School," chattered Billie.

"Why have you those pieces of white birch bark?" asked Uncle Butter.

"We are going to make little canoe boats from them when we get to Hollow Tree School," answered Johnnie.

"That's a queer way to recite lessons," said the goat.

"Oh, this isn't really lessons," said Billie. "It is manual training. Miss Mouse told each pupil to bring something for manual training class and Johnnie and I are bringing birch bark."

"Oh, now I understand," said Uncle Wiggily. "You squirrels are going to make manual training little canoe boats from birch bark like the Indians used to make."

"That's right, Uncle Wiggily," chattered Johnnie. "Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow are going to bring some old boxes and will make whistles of them. Billie Wagstail, the goat, is going to bring a tin can and out of that he will make a drum. Sammie Littletail in manual training class is going to bring a carrot and out of that he is going to make a top to spin."

"This sounds like fun, doesn't it, Pat?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"It certainly does," bleated the goat. "I wish I had had manual training when I went to school, Wiggy. If that had happened I might be able, now, to get ice cream cones."

"What is all this about your ice cream cones, Pat?" asked the rabbit.

"It's this way, Wiggy," bleated Mr. Butter as he sat on a stump while Johnny and Billie scampered away with their pieces of birch bark. "You know I sell ice cream in my store."

"Oh, yes," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Nurse Jane has often bought a quart of ice cream at your store, Pat, to serve for dessert."

"Besides selling ice cream by the quarts and pints," went on Uncle Butter, "I also sell ice cream cones to the boys and girls. Well, I have sold so many ice cream cones in the last few days that I have no cones left. I have plenty of ice cream but no cones. I can't dish out ladels of ice cream and expect the children to take them without cones, can I?"

"I don't see how you can, Pat," said Uncle Wiggily. "But I have an idea. You and I can make ice cream cones out of this white birch bark. There is a lot of it here. How about birch bark ice cream cones, Pat?"

"The boys and girls can't eat birch bark cones, Wiggy," bleated the goat. "You know the children, after they eat the ice cream, they also eat the cone. But they can't eat birch bark."

"No, I guess they can't," admitted Uncle Wiggily. "Ha! I have another idea, Pat. Give them double dips! That's the answer. Double dips!"

What did Uncle Wiggily mean by double dip birch bark ice cream cones? We shall know more about that tomorrow if the slice of bread doesn't chase the piece of chocolate cake all around the table so that it stumbles into the glass of milk.

Wouldn't you like to see that happen? Especially if you had a piece of chocolate cake with a double dip of ice cream on top.

Chest Donates $50 To Aid McLeod Fund

A donation of $50 was made yesterday by the Greater Victoria Community Chest to the fund for Owen McLeod, Langford veteran who is being treated for multiple-sclerosis at a clinic in Tacoma.

Funds are still needed to sustain the treatments, according to the Langford Community Club, sponsors of a fund drive in September and October.

An unfavorable rate of exchange between the United States and Canada cut the fund and treatments cost more than first estimated.

Mr. Owen, who was joined in Tacoma recently by his wife, is reported to be looking better for the treatments.

TEA FOR TEN

We were invited last Sunday out to tea, which to me always seems, sorta fiddle-de-dee. But THIS one I liked, our hostess good fun, & the "Bis-Quick" she'd baked, were nicely done. The G.F. put on her grey tailored suit, & with her red shoes, I thot she looked cute. No hat she wore upon her bean. I decided on . . . my brown gabardine. This was quite a task, I'm telling you brother. I could have worn . . . only the other. Unknown to the guests all good sports, I also wore by powder-blue shorts. I keep them for occasions such as teas, the elastic tops a nice sort of squeeze. So cosy, in fact, that before I get dressed, & put on my pants, she'd only just pressed; I look at myself, breathe in my skin, feel slim-hipped & all masculine. But when I breathe out, & loose my stance, I hate myself & jump in my pants. YOU could hate yourself, if you don't come to see, these beautiful tables on our balconee. Duncan Phyffee styled, beauty forever, & from your pocket, very little to sever. We got in the car, & I meshed the gears. "Carnation" she'd touched behind both her ears. We were introduced to the others there, our hostess gifted with that easy flair, of talking while offering a cigarette laper. "this man writes . . . SUCH STUFF in the paper." The other lady smiled as if in some doubt, not knowing WHAT exactly she was talking about. But I felt some better, 'cause the "next" read me, the attractive blonde wife of a friendly M.D. We kicked round the weather, then went to consume, the stuff spread out in the dining room. (Incidentally this home furnished to please, tastefully done in modern Chinese.) There were olives, sandwiches & angel cake, plus a lot of giggles about how to bake. I ate many olives & tea I drank quarts, I felt very comfy in my elastic blue shorts. Soon it was six, so we took our leave, the G.F. her coat, didn't bother to sleeve. Just over her shoulders, sorta casual-like, then for home, away we did hike.

Our eldest had put the spuds in the pan, the roast a sight for ANY man. Roast beef it was, my favorite dish, & to eat the stuff, oh . . . HOW I did wish. 'Cause the fat was crispy, the potatoes all browned, I just sat at the table, & more than frowned. I was SO stuffed with olives & angel food, all I could do, was sit & brood. But it WAS a nice tea, & thanks for the fill, yes thank you in print . . . George & "Phyl." Any old time, OUR table we'll set, for the next letter after "T" in the alphabet.

Lucky Kids To Be 'Shot' With Candy

Giving diphtheria immunization to Victoria school children is going to be like taking candy from a baby—or giving candy to a baby.

Instead of the "old-fashioned" needle city health authorities will administer diphtheria immunization toxoids in the form of delicious caramel candies.

City health officer, Dr. J. L. Gayton, has announced that the tests will probably begin some time next week. Three age groups, with from 75 to 100 in each, will be used—under 12, 12-18, and over 18.

The new process, which has been under study across Canada under the sponsorship of the National Research Council, is designed to make toxoid "boosters" easier to keep up.

"We hope by these tests to use oral immunization to replace the needle permanently," said Dr. Gayton yesterday.

A letter has been sent to parents of the children asking permission to use the new method. Parents give assent by filling out an attached form.

"The response has been wonderful so far," the health officer said.

First step will be to take a 5 c.c. blood sample. The candy "shots" will then be administered at a rate of three per day for five days.

After about a year, a second blood test will be made to determine results.

Dr. Gayton has emphasized that the children must have been immunized at some time during the past five years but not as recently as during the past nine months.

If the tests are successful, the caramel "injection" will be given every five years as a "booster" on the same basis as the hypodermic inoculation has been given.

An entirely Canadian enterprise, the method has gone past the experimental stage and is now in the "verification stage," Dr. Gayton said.

"It has been tried out in Toronto on adults with a great deal of success," he said.

In asking parents to grant permission for their children to take part in the tests, Dr. Gayton points out the "advantage of 'booster' doses of caramel candy over the immunizing needle."

"You and your child have an opportunity to join with medical men in their never-ending struggle to prevent suffering and death from diphtheria and we hope you will encourage your child to take part in this study," he asks parents.

Party Planned

A children's Christmas party will be held December 15 from 2 to 5 p.m. at Williams Hall, Broughton Street, by the Veterans of France.

The program will include conjuring, moving pictures, tea and gifts. The committee in charge will hold a meeting December 11 to complete arrangements.

Painful Cramps of "Monthly Periods" halted or strikingly relieved

In 3 out of 4 cases in doctors' own tests!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation — who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" — may often be suffering quite unnecessarily!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Modern in action!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's Compound is thoroughly modern in action. It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual pain!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through this month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is grand, too, for those "hot flashes" and nervous feelings so common in "change of life"!

Don't suffer needlessly . . . when relief may be so near! Get Lydia Pinkham's!

Lydia Pinkham's has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (see chart) which often cause menstrual pain!

Central Saanich Ratepayers to Get Referendum on Paid Use of Library

A referendum on use of facilities of Greater Victoria library will be submitted to Central Saanich ratepayers next month.

The referendum will ask whether ratepayers are in favor of availing themselves of the facilities at an approximate cost of $2 per property owner.

The referendum by-law was passed by Central Saanich council last night, at which time it was announced that Central Saanich population represents 2 per cent of the total Greater Victoria population.

In the past three years books borrowed by residents of the area has been less than 0.9 per cent of the total books issued, council announced.

Ratepayers will receive a circular from council giving full details.

Central Saanich will appeal the assessment equalization board findings which disallowed the municipality's claim of an alteration in the allocation of school costs in district 63.

Reeve Sydney Pickles said, "An injustice is admitted to exist by everyone but Saanich." He said he would appeal direct to the provincial cabinet.

The council heard that Reeve P. A. Gibbs of Oak Bay had loaned a flood-lighting plant to the Central Saanich work crews for use at Island View beach during flooding this week.

The condition of the beach and the sea wall will be brought to the attention of Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew who is in Victoria, council decided.

Councillor Ray Lamont said that he felt no time should be wasted in showing the minister the wall's condition.

Council decided to hold two election meetings, one at Keating Women's Institute Hall and a second at the Brentwood W.I. Hall. They will be held Dec. 10 and 11. No decision was made as to which meeting would be first.

Clerk J. W. Ismay was named election returning officer. Deputy returning officers will be the same as in 1950 where possible.

Polling stations will be the Orange Hall, Saanichton; Institute Hall, Keating, and the West Saanich School.

A play, "The Repentant Pirate," produced by P. W. Taylor will have in the cast Edward Eve, Ralph Pontious, Eileen Conder, Lenora Hewlitt and John Martin.

An announcing contest, something new for Sooke audiences has several local aspirants polishing their enunciation and giving their vocal gymnastics a workout in search of the crown.
